This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

CONNECTICUT STATE LIBRARY,
HARTFORD, Dec. 26, 1900.

To His Excellency,
George E. Lounsbury,
Governor:

Sir:—In compliance with the statutes, I have the honor to submit what is nominally the report of the State Librarian for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1900. It is in fact a special report upon the State Library intended to call the attention of the General Assembly to its great value and interest and also to suggest certain improvements necessary for its proper administration and growth.

As State Librarian, I did not take possession of the office until November 28, 1900, when I was appointed to succeed the late Charles J. Hoadly, LL.D., who, after an official service of forty-five years, died October 19, 1900. Having been connected with the Library, however, as Assistant and Acting Librarian since August, 1898, I have become somewhat acquainted with its contents, methods and needs.

As to the number of books and pamphlets contained in the Library I am unable to state. The fact that they are stored in four different rooms often with two or more rows upon a shelf or in heaps, and the fact that no accession numbers have been maintained, makes even an estimate unsatisfactory.

The number of volumes received during the year upon exchange account and from the United States is upon the increase. The accessions to the library by purchase have been confined largely to filling incomplete sets of reports and in adding new encyclopaedias and late revisions and digests, although several recent text-books and a few series of reports have also been added. About two thousand volumes have been received from all sources since October 1, 1899.

As no regular report upon the growth and condition of the library has been made, so far as I can learn, since the one made to the General Assembly at its May session, 1856, this report may naturally give a brief survey of the library from its establishment.

SKETCH.

The Connecticut State Library, like practically all the State Libraries of the older States, had its foundation in the miscellaneous collection of books which had gradually accumulated in the offices of the several State officials from the beginning. These volumes consisted principally of books purchased to meet temporary official necessities, or which had been presented by sister States, foreign governments, or individuals. Until they had been gathered together, arranged and some one made responsible for their completeness and safety, they were of very little service to the public.

In May, 1854, the General Assembly provided for the appointment of a State Librarian and the miscellaneous collection of books belonging to the State which had been accumulating in the office of the Secretary of State were placed in the custody of this new official. J. Hammond Trumbull having been appointed to this office he entered upon his duties in the autumn of 1854. The following February, these volumes—some three thousand in number—were removed from their storage on the upper floor of the State House, now City Hall, to new rooms on the floor below. At this time there were also about fifteen hundred volumes, mostly duplicates, at the State House in New Haven.

In the first report of the State Librarian submitted to the General Assembly in May, 1855, Dr. Trumbull said:—

> It is unnecessary to suggest, and it would not be becoming to urge the importance of a well selected and well arranged State Library, which shall be as complete as it is possible to make it, in the departments at least, of American Statute Law, Congressional and State reports and documents, and reports of judicial decisions in the courts of the several States and of the United States. Nor is it necessary to call the attention of your honorable body to what has been done, and is now doing in neighboring States toward enlarging and perfecting their respective State Libraries, and providing by liberal appropriations for their rapid increase.

At that time Connecticut had only the beginnings of a library. It was not complete in any department or subdivision. It did not even possess a complete set of Connecticut Reports or documents. Its increase had of necessity been slow as it had been a side issue of the Secretary's office and mainly dependent for its growth upon exchanges with the several States, the receipt of public documents and other works distributed by Congress, and the system of international exchange inaugurated by M. Vattemare in 1849. Not only had no provision been made for the purchase of books, except late American revisions, but no attention had been given towards securing the preservation in the State Libraries at Hartford or New Haven, or in any department, a complete file of our annual laws, messages, reports and documents. So little attention had been given to this subject that the Library was better supplied with the State publications from some of the neighboring States than with those of Connecticut.

Upon the resignation of Dr. Trumbull the following year, Charles J. Hoadly was appointed State Librarian to succeed him. Entering upon his duties in September 1855, he took up the work so ably begun by his predecessor. Impelled by a love for the work and encouraged by the magnificent donations from the heirs of the Hon. Thomas Day, of the greater part of his large and valuable law library consisting of several hundred volumes of English and American reports, Statute law and text-books, he determined to build up a library which would, at least in the department of law, supply the necessities of the Legislators, Judges, State Officers and Attorneys who might resort to it. So completely has this been done that in the matter of the history of English constitutional law, according to English students who have been through it, a better collection of original material will hardly be found outside of London and the university centers of Great Britain. The Library although very complete along its chosen lines—American, English and Irish reports, statute law and State papers—lacks a few scattered volumes of minor American, English and Canadian reports, odd session laws, revisions and digests. A few desirable recent American and English text-books, selected trials, legal biography, bibliography and European codes might also be added.

The process of specializing our libraries to increase their utility is a necessary result of human progress. As the wants of society become more complex and new centers have arisen, each possessing its own libraries, the State Library which might in the early days receive everything, can make itself more useful by selecting its specialties and leaving to others more favorably situated to be more general in their aims. There are two lines, however, which have a peculiar and special place in a State Library, viz:—Whatever pretains to the science of government for the aid of those who are to administer government, and whatever illustrates the history, character, resources and development of the State.

LAW.

The scope of the law department of the Library has been and should continue to be a broad one if it is to stand among the leading libraries of the country. It is practically complete in the collection of official law reports of the Courts of the United States and of the highest Courts of the several States and Great Britain, while its collection of statute law, although not complete, is commendably so. As these reports and statutes constitute the greatest value in a law library, the collection should be made and kept absolutely complete. Very seldom can our deficiencies be supplied by exchange, as repeated application to the several States has shown. Many of them are rare and seldom appear in the market, therefore it should be possible for the Library to improve every opportunity offered to obtain such session laws as it does not possess.

This is an age of progress and rapidity, and to meet the demands of the times, the busy and hurried attorney, investigator, and student needs the assistance of the latest helps in his line. To meet these special demands, numerous books and series of books have sprung into being. To attempt the purchase of every book bound in law-sheep can hardly be advised or expected. But an attorney has a right to expect to find in this State Library of Connecticut, any book cited in the opinions of our Supreme Court, if not everything cited by the highest Courts of our sister States. To stand among the leading libraries it must have these.

COLONIAL REPORTS.

As yet the British Colonial Reports have not been added to our library. The necessity for this addition has developed in the last seven or eight years. At first a result of our growing trade relations abroad, and an increasing interest in Australian legislation and its interpretation in the courts. This development has been further stimulated by the recent expansion of our general foreign relations.

The fact that Connecticut industries are so many and varied and her trade and interest world wide, coupled with the fact that our decisions are being cited in many of the English Colonies, emphasizes the importance, if not the necessity, of adding these reports to the Library. Already fourteen State Libraries, including Massacnusetts, Rhode Island, and New York, thirteen Law Associations, and Harvard, Columbia, Cornell and University of Pennsylvania have them. Other libraries are negotiating for them.

With these several sets available in the large centers, and with the probable further development of our foreign relations and commerce, these reports are bound to be more and more important in all good libraries. Moreover, the limited supply of all these sets of Colonial Reports is rapidly being exhausted and prices advancing, so that early action is advisable.

LEGAL PERIODICALS.

Since the publication in 1889, of Jones' Index to Legal Periodicals, the principal libraries have recognized law magazines as an essential part of their development. So many important articles on important topics insufficiently treated elsewhere, have thus been opened up to ready refernce, that many libraries have taken active steps to complete their collections as far as possible. The appearance of the second volume of Jones' Index to 1899, made the demand even more active. With the lapse of time these legal periodicals are becoming harder to get and more expensive.

BAR ASSOCIATION REPORTS.

The great value of the legal literature produced by the Bar Associations of America has been quite generally overlooked. It is but recently that this splendid literature so extensive and varied, and possessing so much of literary and legal merit has been accessible. Through such publications as Jones' Index, this hidden wealth has been made available. To meet the calls for this material, special efforts are being made to get as complete a collection of Bar Associations reports, State, national and local, as possible.

If Connecticut wishes to pursue the policy of other leading libraries, and develope a library that as a State Institution shall not only best serve the needs of her courts and legal profession, but also those of the investigator, writer and student of the science of law, there are other branches in which she can to good advantage expend smaller sums towards filling gaps.

REPORTER SYSTEM.

Not every state is as prompt as Connecticut in publishing the decisions of its Supreme Court. Some are several years behind in the publication of their official reports which may not contain a report of all the decisions rendered when they do appear. Hence there are numerous decisions, generally of minor importance, however, which never appear in the official reports.

In reporting at once all the decisions of the several Supreme and higher Courts, thus making them available during the interim between the rendering of the decisions and the time when the decisions shall become available in the several official State reports, the National Reporter System does a great service. This system as we must expect covering the great field it does and containing every report contained in the several official reports and also many omitted by them, is quite voluminous. Hence the objection often made to it. The librarian of a neighboring State, in speaking of the system said, while he hardly knew what to do with it, he certainly could not, neither would he be permitted to do without it. Already thirty-three States take the entire system and have the bound volumes complete from the beginning, while some others have the volumes only from the time of their subscription. Maine and Illinois have been taking the advance parts only. With the National Reporter System, always up to date, established at so many Capitols and in general use throughout the land, it is but natural that the several State reports should contain frequent citations from the same, and that those libraries which do not possess the system in some form are handicapped in their work. With the exception of the Federal Reporter this library contains only a few of the earlier volumes presented some time since. It has been a regular subscriber for the Federal Reporter only.

STATE PUBLICATIONS.

The wealth of information contained in these publications of the Federal Government, the several States of the Union and Provinces of Canada, is in general unknown and unrealized. These public documents costing nothing, in many instances were valued at nothing; so little in fact that several States not only do not possess complete sets of their own publications, but do not even possess a list of the same. Connecticut is one of this number. Thus this great mass of historical, statistical, scientific, etc. data of so much real value has become buried, and until recently has been overlooked and disregarded. While it may be true that a large proportion of public documents are not of general interest outside—nor inside—of the State where published, yet for comparative purposes they are of great value, and should find a ready and accessible place in State Libraries. By them one State may profit by the experiences of other States. Through them ideas are exchanged and experiences recorded which tend to encourage or discourage sister States in this or that line of legislation. Hence the importance of giving more attention to this department of the library.

State officials are coming to realize that the placing of the publications of their own State in the several State Libraries of the country is a duty next to that of keeping their own State Library provided with the same.

As timeliness of reports and promptness in transmitting adds greatly to the value of the publications as well as to the vitality of the system of exchange, our State publications should be placed upon the shelves of our several exchanges in the most complete and expeditious manner possible. It is only by careful attention that we can hope to fulfill our obligations or receive all to which we are entitled. In order that this department of our Library may become complete and that we may fulfill our obligations to our regular exchanges and thus be in a position to ask the same of them, I would suggest and recommend that the head of each Department or Commission in the State, be directed to deliver as soon as published, to this office for use of Library and exchange, one hundred copies of every publication issued by them. By so doing this department will be relieved of much extra labor and sister States and our other exchanges will be provided with all our publications in their season. The above copies to be in addition to the bound volumes received through the Comptroller.

This department of the Library will not be what it should be until we have upon our shelves complete sets, not only of our own reports of all State Officers, Commissioners and Commissions, but also of the several States, together with all their official registers, etc. If these publications cannot be found in the State Library, where shall they be found?

Some effort has also been made, when opportunity offered, to collect and redistribute our State publications. The Librarian has sought to obtain collections of Connecticut documents which were in places where they were not desired, and to use them in perfecting sets in the several departments, libraries or institutions of Connecticut where they would be made useful. Many such volumes and pamphlets are in private hands or in town and city offices, which are not only useless, but are in careless confusion, which would have great value when placed where they would perfect sets that are needed for practical use. The Librarian will gladly receive copies of any publications of the State, and endeavor to place them where they will be serviceable.

Through an accident a few years ago, this library lost the greater part of its early State publications. Beginning with 1850, however, our Connecticut documents, as bound for exchange, are complete.

Through the efforts of Mr. Charles D. Hine, Secretary of our State Board of Education, this library possesses a very good collection of Connecticut Town Reports since 1887.

In this connection I cannot refrain from speaking of the Pequot Library at Southport. The great interest in and success of that library in collecting State items is most commendable. It now possesses what is probably the best collection of Connecticut publications to be found, and should receive the support and co-operation of every State official.

PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

It is a pleasure to note the change made by the Comptroller in the binding of our Public Documents for 1898 and 1899. The unwieldly, blank backed volumes of recent years have been superseded by volumes of convenient size, each volume having a label showing the table of contents, with the real date of the same, thus rendering all reports contained therein more readily accessible than has been possible in former issues. These changes have greatly improved the appearance and usefulness of these publications. Moreover, the Report of the Board of Agriculture which from custom has heretofore never been included in the bound volumes of Public Documents is included in the volumes for 1899, thus making them complete.

EXCHANGES.

Possibly a few words as to the origin and growth of the system of exchange between the several State, Provincial, Continental and Colonial Libraries may be of interest.

In the Journal of Congress for Tuesday, April 22, 1777, is found the following:

Resolved. That it be recommended to the several States, to order their statute laws, and the additions that may be made thereto, to be sent to Congress, and to each of the States, together with all discoveries and improvements in the arts of war made in such States respectively.

Accordingly after the publication of the Revision of 1784, Connecticut opened negotiations with the several States for the exchange of statutes. North Carolina was the first to accept the proposition although she was unable to send any volume in return until her next revision should appear. Hence the 1791 Revision of North Carolina laws may be said to be the first volume received by Connecticut through the medium of interstate exchange.

About 1820, Connecticut began an exchange of her Judicial Reports with a few States; but in 1844, South Carolina proposed to the several States that in addition to the laws, the reports of the judicial decisions should be included in the exchange. This proposition was accepted by all the States, although some of the larger ones hesitated before agreeing to exchange with the smaller States because of the great inequality in the number of volumes issued by each.

The exchange of public documents has been extended so as to include, so far as possible, not only the laws and court reports, but all of the separate or special reports made by State officers and boards.

The growth of our Library like those of sister States was greatly stimulated and increased by the volumes given and received through the International Exchange inaugurated in 1849, by Alexandre Vattemare, of France, and conducted by him until his death in 1864. Since his death this work of foreign exchanges has been carried on more efficiently and practically by the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, through its several agencies. Through these agencies, States, institutions and individuals of the civilized world are placed in easy communication. Moreover to M. Vattemare's international exchange do we owe the early collecting of our own public documents and binding them into substantial volumes. Begun in 1850, with one small volume, this practice, inaugurated solely for convenience of foreign exchange, has been continued to the present time until our public documents now make four handsome volumes for ready reference.

CATALOGUE.

That the efficiency of the library may be increased and its treasures made immediately accessible, it is proposed to make a card catalogue which will give in one alphabetical arrangement, the author, title and subject of the contents of the library. While the making of such a catalogue will require time, its value to the library and the public will be of the utmost importance because it will not only be permanent and always up to date, but will do away with much unnecessary handling of books and documents. That this method is the most comprehensive and convenient system of cataloguing is evidenced by its general adoption. Although it will be much easier for the Librarian to work along under the crude system now in operation, it appears to be a matter of duty for him to bring the matter to the attention of the proper authorities. As each yearly increase in the number of books will make the work more difficult and as there is apparently no escape from the change in the near future, the sooner the work can begin the better.

The work of successfully classifying and cataloguing can be done by experts only, and as changes in cataloguers may occur it is essential that the work be done by a uniform and standard method. While the work of classifying and cataloguing is scientific, the work when completed is so simple that the public may resort to it unaided and learn very quickly the resources of the library on any subject under consideration. Moreover, the system being in general use in the larger libraries and library schools, it is possible for one library to profit from the work of another, or better yet, for all to profit from one central source as advocated by the American Library Association.

In order that this work of classifying, cataloguing and indexing may be carried forward systematically and without interruption, I would suggest and recommend that the librarian's assistant, or one of them, be a person used to this line of work and whose time shall be given principally to this work, thus permitting the Librarian to attend to the regular demands made upon him.

The work upon the author, subject and title catalogue of the law books of the library which I had hoped to print as an appendix to this report, has been so interrupted the past few weeks that it has seemed advisable to publish it separately early in the year and include all additions to January 1, 1901. Additions from this date will be given in the Bulletin mentioned below.

LIBRARY BULLETINS.

To keep all interested in the library advised as to its contents, it is proposed to issue a Quarterly Bulletin showing all recent accessions, and occasionally including some special items or list of books. This bulletin might also contain changes in Rules of Court and other orders of the Supreme Court and Judges. As it is customary for the larger libraries to issue such a bulletin, the system of exchange adopted will give a complete knowledge and comprehension of library growth and developement throughout the country.

CASES.

The prodigious rapidity with which libraries increase, frequently doubling their number of volumes repeatedly in a few years, necessitates the principle of compactly storing books. So also does the economy of time both for reader and librarian.

This library has long been handicapped by lack of proper shelving and room for accommodating the books. When the library was broght to its present spacious room from its congested quarters in the Old State House, it was believed that abundant provision had been made for the shelving of books for years to come. Not only has all the shelving then provided been occupied, but other cases since added are also filled to overflowing, to such an extent, that for some time the work of the Librarian has been not only much increased and seriously handicapped but as many of the books are arranged in heaps or in two or more rows upon a shelf they are thereby exposed to much extra handling and wear.

The floor space of the library now occupied by the seven massive oak cases with extravagant shelving wide enough for two to four rows of books, if fitted with a proper stack of steel cases would not only relieve the present congested condition and make conveniently accessible books now stored in our several store-rooms, but being built in sections, can be extended from time to time as needed, as the present room properly equipped will be sufficient for years. The steel cases are light, neat, compact and easily accessible and will be a long step towards fire-proof construction, so desirable in a library and also reduce the shelf-wear to a minimum. Moreover, should the time come when a separate building will be advisable, these cases can be transferred to the new rooms and adjusted to the new conditions.

Realizing the necessity of new shelving and the great superiority of metal stacks over wooden cases, I have caused to be made plans embodying my ideas which I beg to submit to the consideration of the Library Committee. In these plans, I have aimed to store the largest number of books in the least possible space consistent with freedom of access, and at the same time preserve the symmetry and beauty of our room.

RECORDS AND BRIEFS.

Through the courtesy and assistance of the several Superior Court Clerks and the Attorneys of the State it is hoped we may be able to extend our volumes of Records and Briefs of cases in the Supreme Court to an earlier date than we now possess. These volumes with the fifty-eight volumes relating to New York and Federal cases presented to the library in 1893, by the late Judge David Dudley Field, will be indexed and made available as soon as possible.

USE.

The number of persons who consult the Library is constantly increasing and naturally is greatest during the session of the General Assembly and the terms of the Courts—especially of the Supreme Court. It is at these times that the great strength of the Library is seriously handicapped by the lack of proper facili ties with which to work. Provision has been made for the addition of several new digests, and new shelving sufficient to accommodate the widely scattered books would also add much.

BINDING.

Although effort has been made to keep in good condition the bindings of the reports in frequent use, there are many paper bound early session laws of the several States, long since out of print, which unless soon substantially bound, cannot long remain intact. Injury to these must result in great and permanent loss to the Library.

As the Public Acts received in exchange from the several States and Provinces are usually substantially bound, provision ought to be made by Connecticut for the substantial binding of a sufficient number of copies to meet the demand from this source.

CONNECTICUT HISTORY.

The fact that a large amount of historical matter relative to the State and its people is fast disappearing, either by destruction or by purchase by persons and institutions outside the State, emphasizes the fact that Connecicut is not living up to her opportunities and duty.

While it is not the purpose or thought to change the policy of this library in its selection of books, it would seem more attention should be given to strictly Connecticut items. At least that effort should be made to complete our line of Connecticut local and town histories and reports, if not the biographies and writings of its citizens.

The State library is the center, and in it should be collected not only the records of the past, but also of the future. As the value of this record depends upon the completeness of the material collected, too much attention cannot be given to it.

It is only by the exercise of scrupulous care in the preservation and guarding of rare books and manuscripts already in the possession of the library, that we can hope or expect that this library will be chosen in preference to other institutions as the final treasure-house in which to deposit manuscripts and other works of value by those who hold them not only dear, but sacred.

ARCHIVES.

The archives of the State, as is well known, are not confined to the State records and the various manuscript volumes in the office of the Secretary of State. There is a great quantity of papers upon various matters which have been accumulating since the settlement of the Colony. About forty thousand (40,000) of these, mostly before 1790, which were by authority of the General Assembly pasted into large folio volumes, have been deposited in the Library. These 122 volumes, each with an index, are divided into the following twenty-two subjects:—

1. Militia, 1678-1757. 5 vols. These volumes relate to the formation of Military Companies, Appointment of Officers, etc.

2. War. 1675-1774. 10 vols. Papers relating to Wars with Indians, French and Indians, France and Spain; also papers relative to the Agents of the Colony in England, 1751-1774.

3. Revolutionary War, 1763-1789. 37 vols. In addition to a large number of Pay and Muster-rolls, these volumes contain papers relating to the Stamp and the Sugar Acts, the Congress of 1765, Secret Expedition to Ticonderoga, Lexington Alarm, Negro Governor, Burning of Fairfield, Danbury, New Haven, Norwich, etc., Tories, Refugees, Confiscated Estates, Slavery, Connecticut Line; also in relation to the adoption of the Constitution of the United States.

4. Indians. 1647-1789. 2 vols. Many documents concerning Uncas, Owaneco, etc.

5. Private Controversies. 1642-1716. 6 vols. Principally documents relating to cases in Court of Assistants and upon Appeal to the General Assembly; also a few Wills and Inventories.

6. Ecclesiastical. 1659-1789. 15 vols. Papers relating to the settlement and support of Ministers, organizing and dividing Parishes, Dissenters, etc.; also some valuable Maps.

7. Finance and Currency. 1677-1789. 5 vols. These volumes contain Acts, etc., relating to the Bills of Credit, Salaries, Grants, the Treasury, Taxes, etc.

8. Finances. 1709-1752. 2 vols. Treasurer's accounts as audited.

9. Towns and Lands. 1629-1790. 10 vols. Many documents, Maps and Plans of great value relative to the settlement of Towns and Boundaries, Highways, Grants of land, etc., are found in these volumes. Thus a copy of the Charter of Plymouth Colony and of the old Patent of Connecticut, 1631, is among them; also the Agreement with Mr. Fenwick about Saybrook, 1644.

10. Susquehannah Settlers. 1775-1796. 1 vol. Contains also papers relating to the Delaware Company, and the Western Lands belonging to Connecticut.

11. Colonial Boundaries. 1662-1827. 3 vols. Papers and documents relative to the Boundaries between Connecticut and Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New York and Long Island. Of great historic interest.

12. Foreign Correspondence. 1661-1748. 2 vols. Rich in autograph letters from the English Kings and Queens and from our Colonial Agents. Many papers have to do with the obtaining of the Charter.

13. Trade and Maritime Affairs. 1668-1789. 2 vols. Papers dealing with Exports, Imports, Duties, Light-houses, etc.; also concerning Indian lands in Massachusetts.

14. Travel. 1670-1788. 3 vols. Papers relating to Highways, Ferries, Bridges, Taverns, etc.

15. Industry. 1708-1789. 2 vols. These volumes relate to Agriculture, Fisheries, Manufacturers, Mines, etc. Contain also a specimen of printing from the first types cast in America, 1769.

16. College and Schools. 1661-1789. 2 vols. Contain a mass of interesting matter relating to Education and Copyrights; also sundry printed Acts and Laws.

17. Civil Officers, etc. 1669-1754. 3 vols. Papers relating to Appointments, General Assembly, Courts, Counties, Physicians, etc. Among these papers is a List of the Freemen in the Colony in 1669, and sundry Laws and Governors' Discourses and Messages.

18. Court Papers. 1696-1705. 1 vol. Principally relating to County Courts.

19. Crimes and Misdemeanors. 1663-1788. Papers relating to Counterfeiting, Burglary, Defamation, Divorce, etc., etc.; also relative to the establishing and regulation of Newgate prison.

20. Lotteries and Divorces. 1755-1789. 1 vol. Lotteries for the benefit of the Treasury, Roads, Bridges, Lighthouses, Meeting houses, Colleges, etc.

21. Insolvent Debtors. 1762-1787. 1 vol. Petitions for Acts of Insolvency, etc.

22. Miscellaneous. 1662-1789. 3 vols. Of great historic interest and value. Thus the Correspondence with Andross, the Writs of quo warranto against the Colony. Documents relative to Union of Connecticut and New Haven, the New England Confederation, Appeals to England, Slaves, Inquests, General Assembly, the Capitol at New Haven, etc., etc.

The above one hundred and twenty-two volumes containing so many thousands of documents, together with many similar papers unmounted and unarranged pertaining to the history of the State, to the history of every town and nearly every ancient family of the State, are now stored in the numerous wooden cupboards in the Library.

Of all the treasures of the state, these manuscript archives are most precious. Many documents and records contained therein are unique, and if damaged, lost or stolen could never be replaced. Recent reports from Harvard and elsewhere show how great the danger of mutilation—if not the total loss—at the hands of unscrupulous collectors, and the recent fire in the Capitol at Washington by which a portion of the archives and records of the highest court of our land perished, ought to emphasize the necessity of properly protecting our archives, the loss or mutilation of which would mean not only a permanent loss to Connecticut but to the world.

Accordingly I have caused to be drawn, plans for two modern fire-proof cases which will protect these treasures against fire, vandalism, mice and bursting steam pipes, and should the Library ever possess a vault these cases can be used as a part of the furnishings of same.

APPROPRIATIONS AND EXPENSES.

The following is a statement of the Appropriations for the fiscal term of two years ending September 30, 1901, and the Expenses for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1900:

	2 Yrs. Appropriation.	1 Yr. Expenses.
Salary of State Librarian	$3,600 00	$1,800.00
Salary of Ass't State Librarian	2,800.00	1,400.00
Purchase of Books	2,000 00	1,096.59
Incidentals	———	354.47

Through oversight no provision was made by the General Assembly of 1899 for the incidental expenses. This sum, however, which was principally for binding, printing and express, has been paid from another account.

With our present appropriation of $1,000 for the purchase of books, which was adequate when first granted, the Library is unable to participate as it ought in the larger life of this growing world. It will do little more than keep up with the current issues of reports, digests, statutes, etc. The class of books purchased by the State Library as already stated, is not the kind that can be purchased for a dollar and can therefore be found in the average private library, but rather that class of books which because of their cost or bulk cannot be expected to be found in private or the smaller Bar Libraries.

Owing to the lack of room for accommodating the books, the regular subscription to and purchase of certain legal publications and reports was stopped a few years ago and a large proportion of the money appropriated for such purposes has been turned back to the Treasury. Of the $9,000 appropriated for the purchase of books from 1889 to 1897, $3,828.93 was covered back into the Treasury. In order that the Library may not remain thus crippled, this money should be restored to Book Fund of the Library.

I cannot bring this report to a close without adding a few lines concerning the one to whom is principally due the credit of having made this Library what it is.

Charles Jeremy Hoadly, LL.D., was born in Hartford, August 1, 1828. Graduated from Trinity in 1851, when he entered the office of Dr. Henry Barnard, then Superintendent of Public Instruction. In 1854, he was appointed Librarian of Trinity College, which position he held until he was appointed State Librarian in September 1856 to succeed the late Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull who had resigned that position. His life work has been done as State Librarian or in historical and legal studies connected with his duties there. In that capacity he served the State forty-five years—a longer period than any other official of either the Colony or State of Connecticut with the exception of George Wyllys who was the Secretary of Colony and State from 1734 to 1794. The entire working Library has been largely brought together by him. He estimated the value of a Library not by the number of volumes upon its shelves, but by its completeness in the departments which it undertakes to represent. Although a man of deep learning in law and jurisprudence and a member of the Bar, he became widely known and will be remembered, not as an attorney or counsellor but as an antiquarian and historian. His great service to the State in copying, editing and annotating sixteen volumes of the Colonial and State Records and in locating and restoring long lost documents is beyond calculation. His familiarity with the manuscript records and the archives of the several States and the Federal Government, and his historical acquaintance with the leading men of the age, made a visit to the State Library under his direction, an event not soon forgotten.

Respectfully submitted,

State Librarian.

HARTFORD, October 10, 1903.

ABIRAM CHAMBERLAIN
Governor

Sir: In compliance with the statutes, I have the honor to submit herewith my report as State Librarian for the two fiscal years ended September 30, 1902. In view of the extended changes and additions which have been made in this department during this period, it has seemed advisable to go somewhat into detail. For the convenience of those who do not have immediate access to the card catalogue now in preparation I have added a list of the law reports, recent statutes, digests, and treatises as appendices to this report, the publication of which has been delayed by the non-arrival of certain foreign statutes and reports which had been included in the above-mentioned lists.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. S. GODARD,
State Librarian.

INTRODUCTION

IN the report of the State Librarian for the year ended September 30, 1900, and referred to the General Assembly of 1901, I gave a brief sketch of the State Library, called attention to its several departments and made such suggestions as seemed most necessary. Particular attention was called to the crowded condition of our rooms resulting from lack of proper shelving, to the several dangers to which the archives of the State were exposed, being stored in wooden cupboards or heaped upon tables, to the importance of a regular and systematic exchange of State publications with foreign countries and sister states, and also depositing them in the several public libraries of our own State, to the necessity of a proper catalogue of the library, and an increased appropriation for the purchase of books.

It is a pleasure to be able in this report to state that the several suggestions and plans offered along those several lines met with approval, and it has been my privilege to assist in their fulfillment.

CASES

The library has long been handicapped by lack of proper shelving and room for accommodating its books. As stated in the last report, books were stored in four different rooms, often with two or more rows upon a shelf or in heaps. During the past year the massive oak cases with extravagant shelving have been replaced by a two-story modern Fenton stack, made and installed by the Art Metal Construction Co. of Jamestown, N. Y. These steel cases, which are light, neat, compact, and easily accessible, are also adjustable. In planning for them I have aimed to shelve the largest number of books in the least possible space consistent with freedom of access, and at the same time preserve the symmetry and beauty of our room. Although occupying practically the same floor space as the old cases, the present two-story equipment furnishes nearly three times as much shelving, all of which is accessible and that, too, without the aid of step-ladders. Provision has been made in the construction for adding two more tiers whereby the capacity may be practically doubled without occupying additional floor space. Moreover the stairways have been so placed as to accommodate tiers at each end of the room, should they become necessary.

The views contained in this report show the arrangement and crowded condition of the library two years ago and the present appearance of our new equipment. The escutcheons upon the railing of the balcony bear the arms of the State in bronze relief. The whole metal equipment is finished in a dark green enamel.

LIGHTING

Although constructed and occupied nearly a quarter of a century ago, it remained for the year 1902 to show the people of Connecticut what a really beautiful State House they have. While the lighting of the building by electricity has transformed the entire interior of the Capitol, in no part — the rotunda excepted — is the change more noticeable, welcome, or pleasing than in the library. This beautiful room, eighty-five feet long, fifty-five feet wide, and thirty-five feet high, with its tiled flooring, beamed ceiling, carved cornices, pillared windows, and frescoed walls, required the assistance of this new light to bring out its real beauty. The thirty-six lamps of the chandelier with one hundred and fifty-six lamps nestled in the niches of the lower cornice around the room do this. The working lights consist of two hundred and fifty-eight lights arranged throughout the aisles of the stacks and along the cornices of the wall-cases and twelve upon the several tables — a total of four hundred and sixty-two lights. All are controlled by convenient switches. For the first time our library is really lighted.

FURNITURE

The furniture of the library also presents a decided change. Our massive oaken tables and the librarian's desk have been refinished and recovered. The old cane-bottom chairs have been superseded by new ones and a four-sided center seat made by The Mellish & Byfield Co. of Boston. All are upholstered in dark green to harmonize with the color of room and new shelving.

Of the colonial chairs used in the Senate Chamber of the old State House only eight remain in the possession of the State. These, having been restored by Nathan Margolis of this city, whose reputation along these lines is by no means confined to Connecticut, form a pleasing part of our furnishings.

PORTRAITS OF GOVERNORS

The portraits of the several Governors of Connecticut, which formerly extended in single line along the two ends and south side of the library and partially hidden by books and cases, have been rearranged to meet the new conditions. Those who served the State before the Civil War have been grouped upon the east wall and those since upon the west. The wooden name-blocks have been replaced by uniform electroplated name-plates, which bear not only the name of the Governor but also the dates of his administration. Each portrait has also been cleaned and revarnished by Miss Ellen Earle Flagg of this city, whose father, Charles Noel Flagg, and whose grandfather, Jared B. Flagg, N.A., have painted eight out of the forty-three portraits in line. It is to be regretted that there are fourteen of our early Governors of whom there is no authenticated likeness.

The following is the list of the portraits now hanging in the library, with date of birth and death, the terms of their administration, and name of artist.

1. JOHN WINTHROP (1606-1676) of New London. Governor of Connecticut from 1657 to 1676, except 1658. Painted by George F. Wright of Hartford from the original by an unknown artist in possession of the New York branch of the Winthrop family.

2. Sir EDMUND ANDROS (1637-1714). Royal Governor of New England from November 1, 1687, to May 9, 1689. Painted by Charles Noel Flagg of Hartford from a colored photograph of a miniature in possession of his collateral descendants in London and an engraving prefixed to the Andros Tracts of the Prince Society.

3. FITZ JOHN WINTHROP (1639-1707) of New London. Governor from 1698 to 1708. [Our first American-born Governor.] Unsigned.

4. GURDON SALTONSTALL (1666-1724) of New London. Governor from 1708 to 1725. Painted by Wright from a portrait in possession of Yale University.

5. JONATHAN TRUMBULL, "Brother Jonathan" (1710-1785), of Lebanon. Governor from 1769 to 1784. Painted by Wright from portrait by the Governor's son, Col. John Trumbull.

6. SAMUEL HUNTINGTON (1731-1796) of Norwich. Governor from 1786 to 1796, when he died in office. Painted by Wright from the painting in Independence Hall, Philadelphia.

7. OLIVER WOLCOTT (1726-1797) of Litchfield. Was Governor 1796-1797, and also died in office. This portrait, presented to the State by his grandson in 1830, was painted by Ralph Earle about 1784.

8. JONATHAN TRUMBULL, JR. (1740-1809) of Lebanon. Governor from 1797 until his death in 1809. This portrait by Wright was painted after the original by Sully.

9. JOHN TREADWELL (1745-1823) of Farmington. Governor from 1809 to 1811. Painted by Wright after a portrait in the possession of the Connecticut Historical Society by an unknown artist.

10. JOHN COTTON SMITH (1765-1845) of Sharon. Governor, 1812-1817. Painted by Albert H. Emmons of Hartford, from a miniature.

11. OLIVER WOLCOTT, JR. (1760-1833) of Litchfield. Governor, 1817-1827. Painted by Wright after an original by Stuart.

12. GIDEON TOMLINSON (1780-1854) of Fairfield. Governor, 1827-1831. Painted by Wright after a portrait by an unknown artist.

13. JOHN S. PETERS (1772-1858) of Hebron. Governor, 1831-1833. Painted by Wright.

14. HENRY W. EDWARDS (1779-1847) of New Haven. Governor, 1833-1834 and 1835-1838. Painted by Wright from a daguerreotype.

15. SAMUEL W. FOOT (1780-1846) of Cheshire. Governor, 1834-1835. Painted by Wright from an unsigned portrait.

16. WILLIAM W. ELLSWORTH (1791-1868) of Hartford. Governor, 1838-1842. Unsigned. Attributed to Wright.

17. CHAUNCEY F. CLEVELAND (1799-1887) of Hampton. Governor, 1842-1844. Painted by Wright.

18. ROGER S. BALDWIN (1793-1863) of New Haven. Governor, 1844-1846. Painted by Wright.

19. ISAAC TOUCEY (1796-1869) of Hartford. Governor, 1846-1847. Unsigned.

20. CLARK BISSELL (1782-1857) of Norwalk. Governor, 1847-1849. Painted by Wright.

21. JOSEPH TRUMBULL (1782-1861) of Hartford. Governor, 1849-1850. Painted by Wright.

22. THOMAS H. SEYMOUR (1808-1868) of Hartford. Governor, 1850-1853. Painted by Wright.

23. CHARLES H. POND (1781-1861) of Milford. Governor, 1853-1854. Painted by Wright.

24. HENRY DUTTON (1796-1869) of New Haven. Governor, 1854-1855. Painted by Wright.

25. WILLIAM T. MINOR (1815-1889) of Stamford. Governor, 1855-1857. Unsigned.

26. ALEXANDER H. HOLLEY (1804-1887) of Salisbury. Governor, 1857-1858. Painted by Henry Wilson.

27. WILLIAM A. BUCKINGHAM (1804-1875)) of Norwich. Governor, 1858-1866. Painted by Emmons.

28. JOSEPH R. HAWLEY (1826-) of Hartford. Governor, 1866-1867. Painted by Jared B. Flagg, N.A., of New Haven.

29. JAMES E. ENGLISH (1812-1890) of New Haven. Governor, 1867-1869 and 1870-1871. Painted by Jared B. Flagg, N.A.

30. MARSHALL JEWELL (1825-1883) of Hartford. Governor, 1869-1870. Painted by William R. Wheeler of Hartford.

31. CHARLES R. INGERSOLL (1821-) of New Haven. Governor, 1873-1877. Painted by Jared B. Flagg, N.A.

32. RICHARD D. HUBBARD (1818-1884) of Hartford. Governor, 1877-1879. Painted by William Lazarus of New York.

33. CHARLES B. ANDREWS (1834-1902) of Litchfield. Governor, 1879-1881. Painted by Wright.

34. HOBART B. BIGELOW (1834-1891) of New Haven. Governor, 1881-1883. Painted by Harry Thompson of New Haven.

35. THOMAS M. WALLER (1840-) of New London. Governor, 1883-1885. Painted by Thompson.

36. HENRY B. HARRISON (1821-1901) of New Haven. Governor, 1885-1887. Painted by Thompson.

37. PHINEAS C. LOUNSBURY (1841-) of Ridgefield. Governor, 1887-1889. Painted by Thompson.

38. MORGAN G. BULKELEY (1838-) of Hartford. Governor, 1889-1893. Painted by Charles Noel Flagg.

39. LUZON B. MORRIS (1827-1895) of New Haven. Governor, 1893-1895. Painted by Thompson.

40. O. VINCENT COFFIN (1836-) of Middletown. Governor, 1895-1897. Painted by Charles Noel Flagg.

41. LORRIN A. COOKE (1831-1902) of Winsted. Governor, 1897-1899. Painted by Charles Noel Flagg.

42. GEORGE E. LOUNSBURY (1838-) of Ridgefield. Governor, 1899-1901.

43. GEORGE P. MCLEAN (1857-) of Simsbury. Governor, 1901-1903. Painted by Charles Noel Flagg.

It is believed there are no portraits nor likenesses of any kind extant of the following Governors, as thus far the State has been unable to secure portraits of any of them:

1. JOHN HAYNES (1594-1653-4) of Hartford. Governor, 1639, '41, '43, '45, '47, '49, '51, and '53. Eight years.

2. EDWARD HOPKINS (1600-1657) of Hartford. Governor, 1640, '44, '46, '48, '50, '52, and '54. Seven years.

3. GEORGE WYLLYS (about 1570-1645) of Hartford. Governor, 1642-1643. One year.

4. THOMAS WELLES (1598-1660) of Hartford. Governor, 1655 and 1658. Two years.

5. JOHN WEBSTER (-1661) of Hartford. Governor, 1656-1657. One year.

6. WILLIAM LEETE (about 1612-1683) of Guilford. Governor, 1676-1683. Seven years.

7. ROBERT TREAT (1622-1710) of Milford. Governor, 1683-1698. Fifteen years. (This includes the Andros regime.)

8. JOSEPH TALCOTT (1669-1741) of Hartford. Governor, 1725-1742. Seventeen years.

9. JONATHAN LAW (1674-1750) of Milford. Governor, 1742-1751. Nine years.

10. ROGER WOLCOTT (1679-1767) of Windsor. Governor, 1751-1754. Three years.

11. THOMAS FITCH (1700-1774) of Norwalk. Governor, 1754-1766. Twelve years.

12. WILLIAM PITKIN (1694-1769) of Hartford. Governor, 1766-1769. Three years.

13. MATTHEW GRISWOLD (1714-1799) of Lyme. Governor, 1784-1786. Two years.

14. ROGER GRISWOLD (1762-1812) of Lyme. Governor, 1811-1812. Five months.

SAFES

The one hundred and twenty-two large folio volumes into which were pasted, by authority of the General Assembly, about forty thousand documents — mostly before 1790 — pertaining to the history of the State, to the history of every town and nearly every ancient family of the State — together with many similar papers unmounted and several volumes of great value are now housed in two special modern fireproof safes fitted with roller shelving, which are intended not only to protect their contents, but also to furnish suggestions to those having to do with the custody of records.

The charter of 1662 — so conspicuous in our early history — and the official copy of the Constitution of 1818 — both engrossed upon parchment — and which for many years hung upon the walls of the Secretary's office, having been transferred to the library, have also been placed in a special safe.

These three safes were made to order by the York Safe & Lock Co. of York, Penn., and placed in position by their representatives, Bill Bros. of this city, whose personal interest in the equipment has done much towards securing the harmony of our room.

In addition to the above safes, provision has been made for the storage and protection of books, records, and documents by enclosing with grill work one aisle of the stack, thus securing about 225 feet of steel shelving for this purpose. Already advantage has been taken of this protection and the records of State Commissions and associations are being deposited in the library. It is only by thus welcoming and protecting records and papers that the State can hope to have restored to its custody many state and semi-state papers and records, which in various ways long since passed from its possession.

FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR ROLLS

Among the papers filed away in the above-mentioned safes are two hundred and twenty-two rolls and lists of Connecticut men who served in the French and Indian Wars from 1755 to 1763. These rolls, which were secured some years since from the late Sherman W. Adams,— who assisted in rescuing them from the paper mill, — not only give the names of several hundred Connecticut soldiers, but, being muster and pay rolls, they give much other interesting data concerning these soldiers. In most instances the information conveyed by them can be found nowhere else.

UNIV. OF MICH.

UNIV. OF MICH.

With the exception of sixty-six documents, covering 1755 and 1756, the rest of these rolls — one hundred and sixty-one of them — are in single sheets of uneven size and in various states of preservation, but all very brittle. Each time they are consulted, and that too with great care, results in the breaking off of little fragments of the manuscript. The fact that the names of these soldiers, with the greater part of the information given by the rolls, have been or are to be published by the Connecticut Historical Society will bring additional wear upon these historical sheets. Unless preserved at once much damage must result to them. As an example of what should be done, I have had the rolls for 1755 and 1756 treated by the Emery Record Preserving Company of Taunton, Mass., which has faced the rolls with silk and bound them into two durable and attractive volumes properly labeled. The other rolls should receive similar treatment.

BINDINGS

While much attention and labor has been given to the bindings upon our books there is still need of a great deal more. The paper and sheep bindings are being replaced, as needed, by bindings in morocco, calf, or duck. Additional labels are being placed where needed, and all law reports, when in a regular series, have been supplied with a neat, plain volume number of special design. There yet remain, however, several hundred volumes which need binding at once. The fact that these volumes are now accessible and will be exposed to frequent handling requires prompt action for their preservation.

BOOK-PLATE

In the early days of the library each book was furnished with a book-plate which not only showed the ownership but also certain data concerning it. The supply of these labels having long since been exhausted, the following book-plate designed by Mr. W. F. Hopson of New Haven will be inserted in each volume. In addition to the usual library data, this plate bears representations of the seal of the State, the Fundamental Orders of 1638-9, the Charter of 1662, the Charter Oak, the first State House erected in Hartford, and the present Capitol.

ARRANGEMENT

While the new stack was being placed in position we were able to do much needed work upon the books, and at the same time keep them fairly accessible to the public. This was accomplished by means of improvised tables and shelving in this and adjoining rooms. The dust which had been gradually settling upon the books for some years was blown from the room by an electric fan, as each volume was cleaned before being placed upon the new shelving. In the placing of the books convenience of access has been emphasized as well as classification. Thus in the law section the reports are followed by the digest and volume of citations — if the state has one — then by the last revised statutes and succeeding session laws. The earlier revisions, compilations, and session laws are placed on the second tier. Only the present law of a state occupies the accessible shelving on the first floor.

Preferring not to overcrowd the new shelving, the United States documents are shelved in an adjoining room, while the public documents of the several states — prior to 1900 — have been arranged in an annex over the gallery of the representatives' hall. All are now accessible.

STATE PUBLICATIONS.

Realizing that the national, state, and municipal documents filled with historical, statistical, and scientific data are the original sources from which students of history, economics, and government must draw their information upon public questions, and that the public look to the State Library to furnish these publications, special attention is being given to them. Much of this material has in the past been overlooked and much that the library possessed was inaccessible. Not only has the librarian been arranging exchanges and compiling lists of "wants" along the lines from this and other states, but he has been securing duplicates of Connecticut documents along certain lines to send to other libraries, feeling that it is for the interest of Connecticut as well as the libraries receiving them to have their files complete as possible. Considerable assistance has been given the librarian by neighboring paper mills, and town clerks who are willing to exchange items which are useless to them for something needed. The library needs for its own files Supreme Court records and briefs before 1883 and town reports — selectmen, treasurer, etc. — before 1887. The librarian will welcome and appreciate all assistance to secure these much needed pamphlets which appear from time to time.

Two years ago attention was called to the change made by the Comptroller in binding our Public Documents in volumes of convenient size, each volume with a label showing the reports contained therein and bearing the date covered by those reports. He has since provided that each printed report shall bear its own number, which number was determined by the chronological order of its appearance among the current printed reports of the State. Thus the report of the State Librarian, which was the thirteenth printed report to appear in our series, is numbered " Public Document No. 13."

The following is the list of the current department reports of the State of Connecticut and their several numbers as prescribed by the Comptroller:

EXCHANGES AND DEPOSITORIES

The exchange of official publications between the several states and the federal government, which in early times included only the laws, has in recent years generally included not only the laws and Supreme Court reports but also the separate or special reports made by State officers and boards. When a library has once been placed upon our list, special effort is made to keep the sets complete thereafter.

The following is a list of the libraries to which this library sends the publications of Connecticut. The number preceding each library not only designates the chronological order in which that library was placed upon the list, but also the number in our letter-file under which all correspondence concerning that library is placed. There are four classes of libraries: 1. Governmental, to which everything is sent. 2. Public, to which everything except the law reports is sent. 3. Bar and special law libraries, to which only the laws are sent. 4. Patriotic societies which receive only the historical publications.

Numbers 1-100 are reserved for the first class, 101-300 for the second class, 301-400 for the third class, and 401-600 for the fourth.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION, 1902

The small amount of material to be found in this library relating to the Constitutional Convention of 1818 emphasized the necessity of securing such items in their day.

Accordingly special attention was given to collecting papers and pamphlets issued in connection with the convention of 1902.

The official report of the debates and speeches which were delivered during the five months the convention was in session makes nine good-sized volumes of typewritten matter. The other copy provided for by the convention is in the custody of the Secretary of State.

NEWSPAPERS

PURCHASE OF BOOKS

The annual appropriation of $1,000 for the purchase of books, which may have been adequate when first granted, will do little more than keep up with the current issues of reports, digests, statutes, and leading text-books. The class of books purchased by the State Library, as stated in my former report, is not the kind that can be purchased for a dollar and therefore can be found in the average private library, but rather that class of books which because of their cost or bulk cannot be expected to be found in private or the smaller libraries. The appropriation for books ought to be at least $2,000 annually.

By restoring to the library some four thousand dollars which had been covered back into the treasury from 1889 to 1897, the General Assembly of 1901 enabled us to complete several sets of reports, and make other needed additions to the law section, which had been stifled by the crowded condition of our shelving. How much has been accomplished will appear by perusing the list of books appended to this report.

The library has been further strengthened the past year by the addition of a complete set of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle, substantially bound, and a partial set of White and Kemble's Atlas and Digest of Railroad Mortgages, which the Bank Commissioners have deposited with us. By working thus in connection with the several departments of state and its various commissions, it is expected that the library will be of greater service to all.

The same conditions which smothered the law section also smothered other sections. The recent works upon Constitutional Law and History, with their up-to-date bibliographies along these lines, show how deficient is our library in standard works published since 1890 but how complete in the earlier. The same might also be said concerning our local history and state town documents prior to 1887. These two sections ought to receive immediate attention.

CATALOGUE

That each volume may be made to do its full service, and with as little delay as possible, a standard card catalogue of the library is being prepared. This work, which is necessarily slow, is being facilitated by the use of such printed catalogue cards as may be secured either by donation or purchase. Much assistance has been received from the American Library Association, and the Congressional Library and Department of Agriculture at Washington.

VITAL STATISTICS

Beginning with July 1, 1897, the State Board of Health required the return of all births, marriages, and deaths to be made and certified by the several town clerks upon special cards of uniform size. These cards, arranged alphabetically by towns in special cases, were placed in the custody of the State Librarian, in a room upon the fourth floor of the Capitol. For the convenience of all, arrangements have been made to so place the cases that these records may be consulted in the library.

EXPENDITURES

The following is a statement of the expenditures in this department for the two fiscal years:

Salaries:
Charles J. Hoadly, State Librarian,	$100.00
Geo. S. Godard, "	3,577.77
Charles R. Green, Librarian's Assistant (since January, 1901),	1,122.49
Anne L. Maltbie, Cataloguer (since October, 1901),	636.11
	$5,436.37
Purchase of Books,	5,949.49
Incidentals,	2,175.45
Art Metal Construction Company (on account),	9,500.00
York Safe and Lock Company,	1,870.00

Furniture:
Mellish and Byfield Company,	557.00
Robbins Bros.,	38.00
Nathan Margolis,	118.00
C. C. Fuller & Co.,	52.45
Governors' Portraits:
Ellen Earle Flagg,	190.50
Ripley Art Company,	105.25
	$25,992.51

USE

That the library is being more and more appreciated is evidenced by the constant increase in the number of those who come to consult it. These are no longer confined to those who live in the immediate vicinity of Hartford, but to those also from the more remote towns and neighboring States.

Surprise is frequently expressed at the amonut of material now made accessible which has heretofore been unavailable and therefore unknown. The increasing use of the library, both by letter and person, has greatly increased the work in this department. The cleaning and rearranging the books required extra help, as will also the preparing for use the thousands of volumes heretofore in heaps.

CONCLUSION

I cannot close my report without expressing my thanks to the State Library Committee, the Board of Control, and Comptroller Chamberlain each for their kindly support and encouragement which has made our new equipment possible, to Judge Samuel O. Prentice, Superintendents Stevenson and Wilson, and Colonel Schultz, whose personal interest has been of constant assistance, and to the public, whose good nature during these months of upheaval has done much to lighten and brighten our labors.

APPENDIX I

LIST OF LAW REPORTS, DIGESTS, AND STATUTES

For the convenience of those interested, the following list of American, English, Irish, Scotch, Canadian, and Australian reports in the Library, together with our latest digests, statutes, and subsequent session laws in each group, is here appended. This list shows the resources of the Connecticut State Library upon the current law of the several states, provinces, and countries above mentioned. It includes all books of this department received prior to October 1, 1903. In some later publication a list of the earlier statutes and session laws of the above groups possessed by the Library will be given. Current sets are marked +. Sets marked with a † have been added since October 1, 1900.

The following divisions and subsections have been observed in compiling the list:

APPENDIX II

AUTHOR AND SUBJECT INDEX.

The following is an abridged catalogue of the several dictionaries, encyclopædias, legal treatises, and legal periodicals accessible in the Connecticut State Library October 1, 1903. Effort has been made to have each book appear under the name of its author and in connection with its principal subject. Both authors and subjects are arranged alphabetically in one alphabet. The work of cataloguing our government publications has not progressed far enough to warrant an attempt to include in this index various publications from that source.

Abbott, A. Civil Trial Brief. New York, 1885.

Connecticut State Library

HARTFORD.

To His Excellency

ABIRAM CHAMBERLAIN

Governor

Sir: I have the honor to submit herewith my report as State Librarian of Connecticut for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1903. As heretofore, I have endeavored to have this report of such a character as to serve as an official report to the state upon the life and progress of the Connecticut State Library and at the same time be an item of some interest to the citizens of the state.

The increase in the number of inquiries concerning portraits, pictures, statues, etc., of Connecticut men at the Capitol received at the library has led me to compile a list of the same, which is made a part of this report. I trust the list may prove of interest and of some service.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. S. GODARD,

State Librarian

INTRODUCTION

THE crowded condition of the State Library which had obtained for some years, resulting from lack of proper shelving, was relieved by the modern, two-story steel stack provided for by the General Assembly of 1901 and installed by the Art Metal Construction Company of Jamestown, New York. The safety of the old Charter, the official copy of our Constitution, and a portion of the manuscript archives in the library has been insured by the purchase of special safes. The regular and systematic exchange of state publications, so far as Connecticut is concerned, has been established, and the cataloguing of the library along standard lines is in progress.

CASES

In planning for our new equipment effort was made to shelve the largest number of books in the least possible space consistent with freedom of access, and at the same time preserve the symmetry and beauty of our room. Moreover, provision was made in the plans and construction for a four-story stack, and the stairways of the same were so located as to also accommodate tiers at each end of the room should such become necessary. While occupying practically the same floor space as the massive oak cases which were discarded, the two stories of our new equipment already built furnish nearly three times as much shelving, all of which is adjustable and easily accessible. When provision was made for our new stack by the General Assembly in 1901 it was not expected that the two stories to be immediately built would furnish all the shelving needed, but would relieve the congested condition of the main room, and that from time to time additional tiers should be added.

ARRANGEMENT

As at present arranged, the books of the State Library are in three rooms, viz.: the law, history, biography, genealogy, works of reference, and public documents of sister states since 1900 are in the main room; public documents of sister states prior to 1900 in the annex over the gallery of the Representatives' Hall; while the United States documents are in the room adjoining the library on the west, which is also our cataloguing room and room for general work.

In many ways our present room and equipment is ideal. The main room, which is located on the third floor and opens directly into the rotunda, is 85 feet long, 55 feet wide, and 35 feet high. This room, with its tiled flooring, beamed ceiling, carved cornices, pillared windows, and frescoed walls, is now beautifully lighted by electricity. Along the east side stands the new stack, while conveniently arranged about the rest of the room are tables with electric lights for the use of the readers. Grouped along the walls upon the east and west ends of the room hang the portraits of our several Governors, so far as obtainable, who seem to be gazing down upon the original Charter and the official copy of the Constitution of 1818, both of which are now kept in a specially constructed safe near the middle of the room. But this room, large as it is, beautiful as it is, and conveniently arranged as it is, and the center of attraction to so many, is of necessity more or less noisy, and has no places to which one may retire to study and work in quiet. Neither has it any large vaults such as a library of this character needs, although it is in danger of being crushed from above should the roof and wooden material said to be over it become a fiery furnace. The recent fires at the capitols in Washington, Madison, Wisconsin, and Des Moines, Iowa, must not be overlooked. It has been my thought and hope that some provision might be made whereby all the books of the library could be brought together, where regularly constructed vaults might be accessible and where rooms or special apartments for study could be provided.

PURCHASE OF BOOKS

In the purchase of books special attention has been given to our law division, Connecticut items, and books needed in the work of the several departments of the State. In the law division continued efforts have been made to complete our collection of American Law Reports, and thus make easily available to the people of Connecticut not only the reports of cases in the courts of last resort of the United States and of the several states, but also such series of inferior court reports and legal periodicals as are recognized in the reports of such higher courts. The number of such reports and periodicals is surprisingly large, and in many instances by no means easily secured at reasonable prices. Effort is also being made to have available those series of reports covering the higher courts of other countries, so far as they are published in English. The world is fast growing smaller and our neighbors are getting nearer. Distance is no longer measured by miles, but rather by the time occupied in traversing. The might-be soon becomes the may-be, and, before we realize it, is. The attorney may, therefore, reasonably expect to find in the State Library any work cited in the opinions of his own Supreme Court or the Supreme Court of the United States, if not everything cited by the highest courts of the several states.

In our division of local history efforts are being made to secure such items as may refer to the State or any of its subdivisions, to its people, or to its industries. Special attention has been given to securing complete sets of the official reports of Connecticut officers, departments and commissions, and the official proceedings of Connecticut organizations, whether they have received State aid or not. These reports and proceedings, when not officially arranged in volumes, have been arranged in volumes of convenient size, substantially bound and clearly labeled, thus making them more easily accessible and less easily lost.

The official military records of Connecticut men in the several wars which are needed to complete our files are receiving attention and, when possible, are added to our archives. Several such items have recently been secured.

In this connection I wish to thank the several officials and individuals throughout the State who have assisted me along these special lines. While much has been accomplished there is much yet to be done. As the little, musty, ink-stained, quaintly phrased diaries, pamphlets, etc., of Colonial days, so common in their day, and usually destroyed or soon forgotten, are now eagerly sought for by historians, so the everyday State, county, town, and city maps and charts, and the pamphlets, broadsides, and circulars which are suddenly and constantly appearing from State, town, church, and lodge officials in every community — only to disappear again almost as quickly — are the very data from which the statesman and historian of the future is to gain his view of our life and interpret our civilization. And as the writing of history will never end, so the collecting of material for historical purposes must never cease. With each generation there is produced histories of the past, based, to be sure, upon the same facts, but interpreted from its own point of view and in the light of its own civilization. Thus each decade accumulates historical data for the use of those to come. From eternity to eternity is a long time, and its history is and will be studied and understood in proportion as the data for the different periods are preserved and made available.

DEPARTMENTAL SECTIONS

That the State Library is appreciated by the several officials, commissioners, and commissions of the State is shown by the ever-increasing use which they are making of it. The national, State, and municipal documents are the original resources from which students of history, economics, and government must draw their information upon public questions. Therefore the heads of the several departments of State should have easy access to the standard works along the lines of their departments. In view of the constant change of officials, lack of room and conveniences for office libraries and the usual cost of such works, the State Library seems to be the natural depository for all such special collections. Here the several State officials should find all necessary books, whether they be costly works of reference, special treatises along their lines, or the departmental reports of their own State or the several sister states. Here, also, should be deposited by them all books and reports sent to them in their official capacity. This is being done by some of the officials, who are thereby assured that these works will be easily accessible in the future not only to them but also to the public.

It frequently happens that the books intended for such use are sent to heads of departments, who accept the same as complimentary copies and not as official for the State. This was the case in many states when the Records of Connecticut Men Who Served in the War of the Revolution, published by the State in 1889, was sent to the adjutant-generals of the several states. Having been accepted by some of the officials as personal copies, many of the states do not now possess a copy of these revolutionary records of Connecticut.

ATTENDANCE

That the opportunities presented by the State Library are appreciated is evidenced by the new faces appearing almost daily. Not only is there a growing attendance from Hartford and the several departments in the Capitol, but those living in the more distant towns of this State and the neighboring states are often found at our tables. During the year ended September 30, 1903, there have been 4,957 readers, who used from one to one hundred volumes or more each. During this same period 850 volumes were taken from the library to be used by the Supreme Court and in the several departments of the Capitol.

APPENDIX

PORTRAITS, PICTURES, STATUES, AND MEMORIALS IN AND ABOUT THE CONNECTICUT STATE CAPITOL

For the convenience of the constantly increasing number of inquirers who seek to learn what portraits, pictures, and statues there are at the Connecticut Capitol, and in order that those interested may see what has been — or what needs to be — done in the several series, I have compiled the following lists. These lists are more extensive than I had first planned and represent much more labor than I had anticipated, as in several instances supposed sources of information either failed or were conflicting in their testimony. The lists are submitted, however, with the hope that although they may not be perfect, they may be the means of adding more portraits to the several lines already started, or which ought to have been started, years ago. The several dates used in these are largely taken from the Connecticut Register and Manual for 1904, and the Biographical Congressional Directory, 1774-1903, published by the United States in 1904, which I have assumed were correct. My object is to call attention to portraits, or lack of them, rather than to dates.

Incidentally the several lists show the steps which have been taken in going to the higher offices and also the changes in the relative estimated importance of these several offices. It is hardly to be expected that a United States Senator of today would resign his place in the United States Senate to become the School Fund Commissioner of Connecticut, as Senator James Hillhouse did in 1810.

GOVERNORS OF CONNECTICUT

The portraits of the several Governors of Connecticut, which formerly extended in single line along the two ends and south side of the library and partially hidden by books and cases, have been rearranged to meet the new conditions. Those who served the State before the Civil War have been grouped upon the east wall and those since upon the west. The wooden name-blocks have been replaced by uniform electroplated name-plates, which bear not only the name of the Governor but also the dates of his administration. It is to be regretted that there are fourteen of our early Governors of whom there is no authenticated likeness.

The following is the list of the portraits now hanging in the library, with date of birth and death, the terms of their administration, and name of artist:

1. JOHN WINTHROP (1606-1676) of New London. Governor of Connecticut from 1657 to 1676, except 1658. Painted by George F. Wright of Hartford from the original, by an unknown artist, in possession of the New York branch of the Winthrop family. Also Lieutenant-Governor.

2. SIR EDMUND ANDROS (1637-1714). Royal Governor of New England from November 1, 1687, to May 9, 1689. Painted by Charles Noël Flagg of Hartford, from a colored photograph of a miniature in possession of his collateral descendants in London and an engraving prefixed to the Andros Tracts of the Prince Society.

3. FITZ JOHN WINTHROP (1639-1707) of New London. Governor from 1698 to 1708. [Our first American-born Governor.] Unsigned.

4. GURDON SALTONSTALL (1666-1724) of New London. Governor from 1708 to 1725. Painted by Wright from a portrait in possession of Yale University. Also Chief Justice.

5. JONATHAN TRUMBULL, "Brother Jonathan" (1710-1785), of Lebanon. Governor from 1769 to 1784. Painted by Wright from portrait by the Governor's son, Col. John Trumbull. There is also a marble statue of "Brother Jonathan" on the east front of the Capitol. He was also Lieutenant-Governor and Chief Justice.

6. SAMUEL HUNTINGTON (1731-1796) of Norwich. Governor from 1786 to 1796, when he died in office. Painted by Wright from the painting in Independence Hall, Philadelphia. Also Lieutenant-Governor and Delegate to Continental Congress, of which he was president 1779-1781. Chief Justice of Supreme Court, 1784-1785. [Also a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and also of the Articles of Confederation in 1778.]

7. OLIVER WOLCOTT (1726-1797) of Litchfield. Was Governor 1796-1797, and also died in office. This portrait, presented to the State by his grandson in 1830, was painted by Ralph Earle about 1784. Also Lieutenant-Governor, Delegate to the Continental Congress, signer of the Declaration of Independence and also of the Articles of Confederation in 1778.

8. JONATHAN TRUMBULL, JR. (1740-1809) of Lebanon. Governor from 1797 until his death in 1809. This portrait by Wright was painted after the original by Sully. Also Lieutenant-Governor, Speaker, U. S. Senator, and U. S. Representative. [Elected Speaker of Second Congress, 1791.]

9. JOHN TREADWELL (1745-1823) of Farmington. Governor from 1809 to 1811. Painted by Wright after a portrait in the possession of the Connecticut Historical Society by an unknown artist. Also Lieutenant-Governor, and Delegate to the Continental Congress.

10. JOHN COTTON SMITH (1765-1845) of Sharon. Governor, 1812-1817. Painted by Albert H. Emmons of Hartford, from a miniature. Also Lieutenant-Governor, Speaker, and U. S. Representative.

11. OLIVER WOLCOTT, JR. (1760-1833), of Litchfield. Governor, 1817-1827. Painted by Wright after an original by Stuart. Also Comptroller, and President of the Constitutional Convention 1818. [Secretary of U. S. Treasury, 1795-1800.]

12. GIDEON TOMLINSON (1780-1854) of Fairfield. Governor, 1827-1831. Painted by Wright after a portrait by an unknown artist. Also Speaker, U. S. Senator, and U. S. Representative.

13. JOHN S. PETERS (1772-1858) of Hebron. Governor, 1831-1833. Painted by Wright. Also Lieutenant-Governor.

14. HENRY W. EDWARDS (1779-1847) of New Haven. Governor, 1833-1834 and 1835-1838. Painted by Wright from a daguerreotype. Also Speaker, U. S. Representative, and U. S. Senator.

15. SAMUEL A. FOOT (1780-1846) of Cheshire. Governor, 1834-1835. Painted by Wright from an unsigned portrait. Also Speaker, U. S. Representative, and U. S. Senator.

16. WILLIAM W. ELLSWORTH (1791-1868) of Hartford. Governor, 1838-1842. Unsigned. Attributed to Wright. Also U. S. Representative.

17. CHAUNCEY F. CLEVELAND (1799-1887) of Hampton. Governor, 1842-1844. Painted by Wright. Also Speaker and U. S. Representative.

18. ROGER S. BALDWIN (1793-1863) of New Haven. Governor, 1844-1846. Painted by Wright. Also U. S. Senator.

19. ISAAC TOUCEY (1796-1869) of Hartford. Governor, 1846-1847. Unsigned. Also U. S. Senator and U. S. Representative. [Attorney-General of the United States, 1848-49, and Secretary of the Navy, 1857-61.]

20. CLARK BISSELL (1782-1857) of Norwalk. Governor, 1847-1849. Painted by Wright.

21. JOSEPH TRUMBULL (1782-1861) of Hartford. Governor, 1849-1850. Painted by Wright. Also U. S. Representative.

22. THOMAS H. SEYMOUR (1808-1868) of Hartford. Governor, 1850-1853. Painted by Wright. Also Quartermaster-General and U. S. Representative. Portrait also in Quartermaster-General's office. [Minister to Russia, 1853-58.]

23. CHARLES H. POND (1781-1861) of Milford. Governor, 1853-1854. Painted by Wright. Also Lieutenant-Governor.

24. HENRY DUTTON (1796-1869) of New Haven. Governor, 1854-1855. Painted by Wright.

25. WILLIAM T. MINOR (1815-1889) of Stamford. Governor, 1855-1857. Unsigned.

26. ALEXANDER H. HOLLEY (1804-1887) of Salisbury. Governor, 1857-1858. Painted by Henry Wilson. Also Lieutenant-Governor.

27. WILLIAM A. BUCKINGHAM (1804-1875) of Norwich. Governor, 1858-1866. Painted by Emmons. Also U. S. Senator. There is also an oil portrait by Wilson in the Governor's Room, and a bronze statue on the first floor of the Capitol, west corridor.

28. JOSEPH R. HAWLEY (1826-) of Hartford. Governor, 1866-1867. Painted by Jared B. Flagg, N.A., of New Haven. Also U. S. Representative and U. S. Senator. [President of the United States Centennial Commission.]

29. JAMES E. ENGLISH (1812-1890) of New Haven. Governor, 1867-1869 and 1870-1871. Painted by Jared B. Flagg, N.A. Also U. S. Representative and U. S. Senator.

30. MARSHALL JEWELL (1825-1883) of Hartford. Governor, 1869-1870. Painted by William R. Wheeler of Hartford. [Minister to Russia and Postmaster-General.]

40. O. VINCENT COFFIN (1836-) of Middletown. Governor, 1895-1897. Painted by Charles Noël Flagg.

41. LORRIN A. COOKE (1831-1902) of Winsted. Governor, 1897-1899. Painted by Charles Noël Flagg. Also Lieutenant-Governor. Portrait also in Lieutenant-Governor's Room.

42. GEORGE E. LOUNSBURY (1838-1904) of Ridgefield. Governor, 1899-1901. Painted by Charles Noël Flagg.

43. GEORGE P. MCLEAN (1857-) of Simsbury. Governor, 1901-1903. Painted by Charles Noël Flagg.

44. ABIRAM CHAMBERLAIN (1837-) of Meriden. Governor, 1903-1905. Painted by Thompson. Also Comptroller. Portrait also in Comptroller's office.

It is believed there are no portraits nor likenesses of any kind extant of the following Governors; as thus far the State has been unable to secure portraits of any of them:

1. JOHN HAYNES (1594-1653-4) of Hartford. Governor, 1639, '41, '43, '45, '47, '49, '51, and '53. Eight years. Also Lieutenant-Governor.

2. EDWARD HOPKINS (1600-1657) of Hartford. Governor, 1640, '44, '46, '48, '50, '52, and '54. Seven years. Also Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary.

3. GEORGE WYLLYS (about 1570-1645) of Hartford. Governor, 1642-1643. One year. Also Lieutenant-Governor.

4. THOMAS WELLES (1598-1660) of Hartford. Governor, 1655 and 1658. Two years. Also Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary, and Treasurer.

5. JOHN WEBSTER (-1661) of Hartford. Governor, 1656-1657. One year. Also Lieutenant-Governor.

6. WILLIAM LEETE (about 1612-1683) of Guilford. Governor, 1676-1683. Seven years. Also Lieutenant-Governor.

7. ROBERT TREAT (1622-1710) of Milford. Governor, 1683-1698. Fifteen years. (This includes the Andros régime.) Also Lieutenant-Governor.

8. JOSEPH TALCOTT (1669-1741) of Hartford. Governor, 1725-1742. Seventeen years. Also Lieutenant-Governor.

9. JONATHAN LAW (1674-1750) of Milford. Governor, 1742-1751. Nine years. Also Lieutenant-Governor and Chief Justice.

10. ROGER WOLCOTT (1679-1767) of Windsor. Governor, 1751-1754. Three years. Also Lieutenant-Governor and Chief Justice.

11. THOMAS FITCH (1700-1774) of Norwalk. Governor, 1754-1766. Twelve years. Also Lieutenant-Governor and Chief Justice.

12. WILLIAM PITKIN (1694-1769) of Hartford. Governor, 1766-1769. Three years. Also Lieutenant-Governor and Chief Justice.

13. MATTHEW GRISWOLD (1714-1799) of Lyme. Governor, 1784-1786. Two years. Also Lieutenant-Governor and Chief Justice.

14. ROGER GRISWOLD (1762-1812) of Lyme. Governor, 1811-1812. Five months. Also Lieutenant-Governor and U. S. Representative.

SECRETARIES OF CONNECTICUT

1639-1904

Pictures of the following Secretaries may be found in the Secretary of State's office:

THOMAS DAY,	Hartford,	1810-35
ROYAL R. HINMAN,	Southbury,	1835-42
JOHN D. ROBERTSON,	New Haven,	1847-49
OLIVER H. PERRY,	Fairfield,	1854-55
Also Speaker. No portrait.
N. D. SPERRY,	New Haven,	1855-57
Also U. S. Representative.
JOHN BOYD,	Winchester,	1858-61

To Mr. Boyd should be given the credit for rescuing the remnants of the copy of the Charter now in the rooms of the Connecticut Historical Society. The story, which is found in Connecticut Colonial Records, IV, 264, note, is as follows:

> "In 1817, or 1818, while Mr. Boyd was preparing for college at the Hartford Grammar School, he boarded in the family of Rev. Dr. Flint of the south church. Coming in one day from school, he noticed on the workstand of Mrs. Bissell, the doctor's mother in law, a dingy piece of parchment covered on one side with black-letter manuscript. In answer to his inquiries, Mrs. Bissell told him that having occasion for some pasteboard, her friend and neighbor Mrs. Wyllys had sent her this. Mr. Boyd proposed to procure her a piece of pasteboard in exchange for the parchment, to which Mrs. Bissell consented. It was not, however, until six or eight years had elapsed that Mr. Boyd examined the parchment with care, when for the first time he learned what its contents were."

The copy of the Charter which is now in the special safe in the State Library is engrossed on three skins, while the one at the Historical Society rooms was written on two. Of this about three-quarters of the second skin now remains. See also note on page 41.

The following miscellaneous portraits, statues, medallions, and tablets may be found about the Capitol building or in its immediate vicinity:

J. W. ALSOP of Middletown. Portrait by Stewart in 1892. In Lieutenant-Governor's Room.

[Dr. Alsop was inaugurated by the Democratic Senate in 1891 (the year of the deadlock) as Lieutenant-Governor for 1891-1892. Comptroller Nicholas Staub was the only state officer regularly inaugurated by the General Assembly of 1891. The other state officials held over until their successors were regularly inaugurated in 1893.]

JOEL BARLOW (1757?-1812). Statesman and Poet. Medallion head, by Niehaus of New York, cut upon the east front of the Capitol.

GEORGE BERKELEY (1684-1753). Medallion head, by Niehaus of New York, cut upon the east front of the Capitol.

ELI WHITNEY BLAKE (1795-1886). Inventor of Stone Crusher, patented June, 1858. Bronze medallion, by Henry T. Blake of New Haven, hangs in the Highway Commissioner's Office.

WILLIAM A. BUCKINGHAM (1804-1875) of Norwich. A bronze statue, by Olin L. Warner in 1883, on a marble base, stands in the west corridor of the main floor of the Capitol, facing the west entrance. It bears the following inscription:

1858 GOVERNOR 1866
1869 UNITED STATES SENATOR 1875

HORACE BUSHNELL (1802-1876) of Hartford. Minister and "Father of the American Park System." Medallion head, by Carl Conrad of Hartford, cut upon the east front of the Capitol.

CAPITOL ORNAMENTATION. The architect made provision for the historic ornamentation of the exterior of the Capitol in the following manner:

There were seventeen tympana provided for ornamentation with works of art. The three upon the east front have been utilized in "Hooker's March to Hartford," "Charter Oak," and "Davenport preaching at New Haven."

There are twenty-six niches for statues. The four upon the east front have been donated to Governor Jonathan Trumbull, Roger Sherman, Thomas Hooker, and John Davenport.

There are also thirty-two places for medallion heads. The six upon the east front have been dedicated to Joel Barlow, Horace Bushnell, George Berkeley, Jonathan Edwards, John Trumbull, and Noah Webster.

The Commission of Sculpture is reported to have definite recommendations for the continuing of this exterior decoration along harmonious and consistent lines at no distant date.

CHARTER OF 1662. The Charter obtained by John Winthrop from Charles II. in April, 1662, and officially sealed May 10, 1662, was engrossed in duplicate and the fees paid for the same were duly entered in the "Accounts of the Clerks of the Hanaper," where such fees were formally paid. While the copies were practically the same and both official, one of them had endorsed at the bottom "Pr fine five pounds," which until recently seemed meaningless and out of place. Whether the remnant in its original case, now in the possession of the Connecticut Historical Society, or the beautiful parchment now in the carved oaken frame in the special safe in the State Library, was the original was not definitely decided until 1898, when Mr. Hubert Hall, F.S.A., of His Majesty's Record Office in London, sent to Rev. W. DeLoss Love of the Connecticut Historical Society an extract from the above Accounts of the Hanaper under date of May 10, 1662, which, translated, is as follows:

Saturday, the tenth day of May (1662)

For the Charter of the Governor and Company of the Colony of Connecticut in New England in America of grant to them and their successors, . . .	.viij^{ll}	.ix^{s}.
For the fee thereupon,	v^{ll}	.
For the Duplicate Charter of the same letters patent,	xx^{s}	iiij^{d}.

This shows conclusively that the copy in the State Library, which does not bear the earmark "Pr. fine five pounds," is the so-called duplicate copy of our Charter and therefore the historic copy, as is evidenced by the following extract from the records of the General Court, May 12, 1715:

"Upon consideration of the faithful and good service of Capt. Joseph Wadsworth, of Hartford, especially in securing the Duplicate Charter of this Colony in a very troublesome season when our constitution was struck at, and in safely keeping and preserving the same ever since unto this day: This Assembly do, as a token of their grateful resentment of such his faithful and good service, grant him out of the Colony treasury the sum of twenty shillings." — Colonial Records, v. 507.

CHARTER OAK. Occupying the central tympana of the east front of the Capitol is the representation of the Charter Oak in bas-relief, designed by Leo. Ch: De Zaleski of New Haven in 1875. The spot where the Charter Oak stood on Charter Oak Place in this city is now marked by a marble tablet about twenty-five inches long and sixteen and three-quarters inches high, bearing the following inscription:

CHARTER OAK
FELL
AUG. 21, 1856

[The oil painting, by Charles D'Wolf Brownell, executed in 1857 after a drawing made by himself August 6, 1855, while the tree was standing, which has been in the possession of Governor Marshall Jewell's family many years, was on December 17, 1903, presented to the Wadsworth Atheneum in this city in memory of Governor Jewell by his daughter, Mrs. Josephine Marshall Dodge, and her son, Marshall Jewell Dodge, of New York. This historic canvas in an oaken frame, the carvings of which are of the Charter Oak, now hangs in the gallery at the Atheneum.]

CHARTER OAK CHAIR. One of the most interesting works of art possessed by the State is the Charter Oak Chair in the Senate Chamber. In view of the permanent interest attached to this chair I here append a portion of its history as taken from the Journal of the House of Representatives for the May Session, 1857.

THURSDAY MORNING, May 14, 1857.

A Message from His Excellency the Governor, submitting a communication from Hon. Isaac W. Stuart, relative to the presentation to the State of a section of the Charter Oak, by Mr. Stuart, was received from the Senate.

On motion of Mr. Woodward, of Middletown, the Message and documents were ordered to be printed in the Journal of the House, and to be filed in the office of the Secretary of State.

The Message and accompanying communication are as follows:

Message.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
HARTFORD, May 12th, 1857.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have the honor to transmit, herewith, a communication from Isaac W. Stuart, Esq., of the city of Hartford, in which he tenders for my acceptance for and in behalf of the State, a noble section of the famous Charter Oak, which he desires to have preserved in some form, as the property of the State.

It gives me unfeigned pleasure to assure you that I have responded most heartily to the wish expressed by the honorable gentleman, and have accepted, on behalf of the State, this generous gift.

Occasions arise from time to time in our history as a people, which serve to reanimate the hearts of our countrymen in their determination to perpetuate the noble institutions which have sprung into existence under the charter which was so signally preserved in the trunk of that venerable oak. I esteem this as one of those occasions.

Nearly one hundred and seventy years have elapsed since this memorable event transpired, and the ancient charter still rests securely in the archives of your State.

It stirs the heart with a fresher appreciation of the spirit which animated our fathers in the defense of their chartered rights, to renew our acquaintance with the history of events which occurred when a tyrant's power was excited to wrest from them this sacred instrument. Upon this foundation they reared the superstructure of the State whose interests you are now assembled to protect.

The intelligent actors of those stirring scenes have long since departed from among us, but we trust their names and deeds will ever be held in grateful remembrance by our appreciating posterity. This noble oak, which "has thrown its broad, gnarled arms to the winds of centuries," has seen many generations go down to the grave since 1687, and has itself, — though watched over with most zealous care, — at last yielded to the blasts of time. It has fallen indeed, but it is not extinct. Its sturdy fibre still cemented into a solid section which once environed the charter of your liberties, is now embraced within the walls of this Capitol. It is indeed a sacred relic, and its preservation in an appropriate manner is an object not unworthy of your serious considerations. The records of every nation that has been eminent in the world show with what reverence it has regarded, and with what care it has preserved these mute historians of honorable deeds. The understanding justifies that instinctive attachment with which the heart turns to the place where some memorable deed of virtue or valor has been done, and that involuntary reverence with which we look upon the monument of some high achievement.

The inanimate thing, the field, the stream, the rock, the tree, is henceforth full of power, not only to make the past real in its historic outlines, but to quicken our gratitude to our fathers to make us emulous of their heroic acts, and faithful to the principles they so boldly maintained.

As a permanent memorial of a most important and interesting event in our history, let us accept this gift so gracefully tendered, and may it serve to remind our children, for many generations, of the vigilance and firmness with which the first fathers of this commonwealth guarded their liberties, and awaken in them a like spirit of self-sacrifice and patriotic devotion.

I suggest that this relic which has been placed at your disposal, be converted into an appropriate desk for the Senate Chamber, or into a chair suitable for the use of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and in which your Chief Magistrate shall hereafter be inaugurated whenever the ceremony occurs in this Capitol.

ALEXANDER H. HOLLEY.

Letter from the Hon. I. W. Stuart.

HARTFORD, May 6, 1857.

HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR HOLLEY:

DEAR SIR — When cutting up the Charter Oak, soon after its fall, I reserved a portion of this noted tree for the purpose of presenting it, when the General Assembly should convene, to the State of Connecticut, and caused it to be deposited, for this purpose, in the Senate Chamber of our capitol in Hartford.

Will your Excellency, therefore, please now accept the portion thus deposited, for and in behalf of the State over which you have the honor to preside, and at a convenient opportunity communicate the acceptance to the Senate and House of Representatives. It is truly a noble section of the tree, and I take a profound pleasure in bestowing it upon my native State — that State whose liberties the old Charter Oak so memorably embosomed and saved, at a moment when the hand of tyranny was lifted in fierceness to seize and destroy them.

That Connecticut may ever possess a frame of Government as precious as that which was so signally secured in the hollow of her venerable and historic Tree of Liberty, and thousands of sons as anxious and gallant for its preservation as he that hid the charter of old, is the warm hope and prayer of

Your Excellency's obedient servant,

I. W. STUART.

Mr. Shipman, of Hartford, introduced a joint resolution, referring the matters alluded to in the Message of His Excellency the Governor, to a committee consisting of the State Library Committee and the State Librarian; passed.

Pages 66-69.

The following is the text of the Resolution as passed:

APPOINTING AND AUTHORIZING A COMMITTEE IN REGARD TO THE PORTION OF THE CHARTER OAK PRESENTED TO THE STATE.

Resolved by this Assembly, That the message of His Excellency the Governor, in regard to the communication of the Hon. I. W. Stuart, with said letter, be and the same is hereby referred to a committee consisting of the state library committee and the state librarian, to take such action upon the matters suggested therein as to them seem expedient. — Resolutions and Private Acts of the General Assembly of the State of Connecticut. May Session, 1857. Page 208.

State Library Committee.

GOVERNOR ALEXANDER H. HOLLEY.
SECRETARY ORVILLE H. PLATT.
JUDGE WILLIAM L. STORRS.
State Librarian.
CHARLES J. HOADLY.

The Committee placed this trunk of the Charter Oak in a safety deposit vault here in Hartford, until it was decided what should be done with it and who should do the work. The design accepted was by Governor Holley's son, and Robbins & Winship of Hartford were given the contract to execute the design. They received $500 for doing the work. The carvings were all done by hand and from the solid oak. All raised parts are a part of the one piece composing that section of the chair. There was no veneering or gluing upon a core. The chair is solid Charter Oak.

On the back of the chair is a silver plate bearing the inscription:

"Made under the authority of a resolution of the General Assembly passed May 1, 1857, from a section of the Charter Oak, presented to the State by Isaac W. Stuart. Designed by Alexander L. Holley of Salisbury, and executed by Robbins and Winship of Hartford."

CORNING MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN. A few rods north of the Capitol in the center of Bushnell Park west stands the Corning Memorial Fountain, erected in 1899. It is surmounted by a bronze figure representing Hart-ford. In the basin stand the four principal figures in bronze; the first representing the Indian in his wild state before being disturbed by the white man; the second represents him spying the white man for the first time; the third shows him attempting to repel this newcomer; while the fourth represents him kneeling in submission to his new conqueror. Other bronze allegorical figures stand about the pedestal which supports the upper basin.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE. A painting in the Supreme Court Room, by ——— Patrick, after the original by Colonel John Trumbull now in Yale University.

JOHN DAVENPORT (1597-1607) of New Haven. Minister and Statesman. Marble statue, by Niehaus of New York, upon pedestal in niche on the east front of the Capitol.

On an adjoining tympana of the east front of the Capitol in bas-relief is a representation of "Davenport Preaching at New Haven." Also the work of Mr. Niehaus.

DOME. The crowning feature of the Capitol is the winged bronze figure representing the Genius of Connecticut, by Randolph Rogers, Rome, 1877, and cast by Ferd v Miller & Sohne, Munchen, 1878. It measures seventeen feet to the tip of its wings, weighs six thousand six hundred pounds, and cost $14,000. The plaster cast in the north corridor of the Capitol is the same as the one from which the bronze was cast.

The twelve marble statues standing upon the twelve angles of the dome at the base of the cone represent Agriculture, Commerce, Education, Music, Science, and Force. There are two of each. The models from which these statues were cut were modeled by J. Q. A. Ward of New York and are now standing on the copings of the two main stairways leading to the balcony of the House of Representatives. The statues are twice the size of the models.

JONATHAN EDWARDS (1703-1758). Medallion head, by Niehaus, cut upon the east front of the Capitol.

JOHN FITCH (1743-1798) of Windsor. Inventor of the steamboat. A bronze tablet, by Karl Gerhardt, upon the east wall of the north corridor of first floor of the Capitol, bearing the following inscription:

THIS TABLET ERECTED BY
THE STATE OF CONNECTICUT
COMMEMORATES THE
GENIUS PATIENCE AND PERSEVERANCE
OF
JOHN FITCH
A NATIVE OF THE TOWN OF WINDSOR
THE FIRST TO APPLY STEAM SUCCESSFULLY TO THE
PROPULSION OF VESSELS
THROUGH WATER

LA FAYETTE S. FOSTER (1806-1880) of Norwich. United States Senator, 1855-1867. Bust presented by Mrs. Foster. In Supreme Court Room.

NATHAN HALE (1755-1776). Patriot. Bronze statue, by Karl Gerhardt in 1886, standing upon a marble base in the east corridor of main floor of the Capitol, facing the east entrance, bearing the following inscription:

NATHAN HALE
I ONLY REGRET
THAT I HAVE BUT ONE LIFE
TO LOSE FOR MY COUNTRY

NOTE. There is also a bronze statue, designed by E. S. Woods of Hartford in 1889, upon a granite base standing upon the grounds of the Wadsworth Atheneum, presented by Mr. James J. Goodwin in 1894, which bears the following inscription:

NATHAN HALE
1755-1776

Other memorials have been erected to this son of Connecticut, as follows:

A granite monument forty-five feet high erected in 1846 at his birthplace in South Coventry by the townspeople and the State.

In 1893 the New York Society of the Sons of the Revolution presented to the City of New York the bronze statue of Nathan Hale by Mac Monnies which stands on City Hall Park — the parade ground of 1776.

In 1894 a memorial fountain was erected at Huntington, L. I., where Hale was supposed to have landed and been captured.

In 1901 a memorial fountain was also erected at Norwalk by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Through the efforts of the "Sons and Daughters" the schoolhouses at East Haddam and New London, in which Nathan Hale taught, have been preserved.

JAMES HILLHOUSE (1754-1832). United States Senator, 1796-1810, which position he resigned to become the first School Fund Commissioner, 1810-1825. An oil portrait attributed to Inman hangs in the School Fund Commissioner's Office.

THOMAS HOOKER (1586-1647) of Hartford. Minister and Statesman. "The First American Democrat." Marble statue, by Niehaus, upon pedestal in niche on east front of the Capitol.

Upon one of the tympana near by is a bas-relief representing "Hooker's March to Hartford." Also the work of Mr. Niehaus.

FLAGSHIP "HARTFORD." The figurehead which adorned the prow of Admiral Farragut's Flagship "Hartford" was presented to the City of Hartford in 1897 by Commodore Philip Hichborn, U. S. N. It now rests in a glass case in the north corridor, first floor of Capitol.

RICHARD D. HUBBARD (1818-1884) of Hartford. A bronze statue of Governor Hubbard of heroic size, by Karl Gerhardt, provided for by Mr. George D. Sargeant of Hartford in 1886 and unveiled June 9, 1890, stands upon the Capitol grounds near the southeast driveway. It represents the Governor in a natural attitude, as though about to address the court or jury. It stands upon a granite pedestal bearing a bronze tablet with the following inscription:

RICHARD D. HUBBARD
LAWYER
STATESMAN

GENERAL THOMAS KNOWLTON of Ashford. The bronze statue provided for by the General Assembly of 1893, and designed by Mr. E. S. Woods of Hartford after Trumbull's portrait of General Knowlton in his Battle of Bunker Hill, stands at the southeast corner of the Capitol. With its granite pedestal, the statue is sixteen feet four inches high, and was dedicated November 13, 1895. The following inscription is upon a bronze tablet:

IN MEMORY OF
COL. THOMAS KNOWLTON
OF ASHFORD CONN.
WHO AS A BOY SERVED IN SEVERAL CAMPAIGNS IN THE FRENCH AND INDIAN WARS
SHARED IN THE SIEGE AND CAPTURE OF HAVANA IN 1762
WAS IN IMMEDIATE COMMAND OF CONNECTICUT TROOPS
AT THE BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL
WAS WITH HIS COMMANDS CLOSELY ATTACHED TO THE PERSON OF WASHINGTON
AND WAS KILLED AT THE BATTLE OF HARLEM HEIGHTS
SEPTEMBER 16 1776
AT THE AGE OF THIRTY-SIX

NATHANIEL LYON (1819-1861), Brigadier-General. Oil portrait, by Harry I. Thompson of New Haven, in 1882. Presented to the state by his sister, Mrs. J. B. Haster. In Adjutant-General's Office.

MEMORIAL ARCH. A few rods north of the Capitol on Bushnell Park, spanning Trinity Street at the east end of the Ford Street bridge over Park River, stands the Memorial Arch erected by the citizens of Hartford in 1885 to the memory of the soldiers and sailors of the Civil War. The same was designed by George Keller of Hartford and the carvings executed by Caspar Buberl and Samuel Kitson, sculptors. On the east side is the following inscription:

IN HONOR OF THE MEN OF HARTFORD
WHO SERVED
AND IN MEMORY OF THOSE WHO FELL
ON LAND AND SEA
IN THE WAR FOR THE UNION
THEIR GRATEFUL TOWNSMEN
HAVE RAISED THIS MEMORIAL

On the west is the following:

DURING THE CIVIL WAR
1861 — 1865
MORE THAN 4000 MEN OF HARTFORD
BORE ARMS IN THE NATIONAL CAUSE
NEARLY 400 OF WHOM
DIED IN THE SERVICE

ERECTED 1885

"PETERSBURG EXPRESS." At the southeast corner of the Capitol grounds, standing upon a substantial granite pedestal, stands the famous "Petersburg Express," a seacoast mortar used by the First Connecticut Heavy Artillery in the campaign before Petersburg, 1864 and 1865. This memorial was dedicated September 25, 1902. Upon the east side is a bronze tablet bearing the following inscription:

ERECTED BY THE SURVIVORS AND FRIENDS
OF THE REGIMENT AND THE VETERAN AND ACTIVE COMPANIES HARTFORD CITY GUARD TO THE FIRST VOLUNTEER ORGANIZATION THAT WAS MUSTERED FOR THREE YEARS INTO THE SERVICE OF THE UNITED STATES IN THE WAR OF 1861-1865

On the south:

MUSTERED OUT SEPT. 25, 1865
TOTAL ENROLLMENT OFFICERS AND MEN
3802

On the north is the Coat of Arms of the State of Connecticut in bronze.

ISRAEL PUTNAM (1718-1790), Major-General. In the Governor's Office is the oil portrait, by Harry I. Thompson, painted in 1876, after a pencil sketch from life by Colonel John Trumbull, now owned by Putnam Phalanx, Hartford. The portrait was purchased from the artist in 1881.

There is also in the Governor's Office a painting of Putnam's Wolf Den in Pomfret, painted by T. J. Thurber of Putnam in 1898, and presented to the state by the artist.

[The tombstone or marble slab which stood at the head of General Putnam's grave in Brooklyn, Connecticut, until the erection of the bronze equestrian statue by Karl Gerhardt, authorized by the state in 1886, was erected, now stands in a case in the west corridor of the main floor of the Capitol, near the battle flags. Although badly chipped and mutilated by relic hunters before being removed from the cemetery, the famous inscription written by President Dwight of Yale, shortly after Putnam's death, may still be read:

Sacred be this Monument
To the memory
Of
Israel Putnam, Esquire
Sienior Major General in the Armies
Of
The United states of America
Who
Was born at Salem
In the Province of Massachusetts
On the seventh day of January
AD. 1718:
And died
On the twentyninth day of May
AD. 1790:

If thou art a Soldier,
Drop a Tear over the dust of a Hero
Who,
Ever attentive
To the lives and happiness of his Men
Dared to lead,
Where any Dared to follow:
If a Patriot,
Remember, the distinguished and gallant services
Rendered thy Country,
By the Patriot who sleeps beneath this Marble
If thou art Honest, generous & worthy
Render a chearful tribute of respect
To a Man,
Whose generosity was singular
Whose honesty was proverbial
Who
Raised him self to universal esteem
And offices of Eminent distinction
By personal worth
And a
Useful Life

The new bronze statue at Brooklyn, Conn., designed by Karl Gerhardt, is twelve feet high upon a granite base thirteen feet high.

In 1888 the state erected upon Putnam's Camp Ground in Redding, Connecticut, which has been made a state park, an obelisk of native
